

AMBASSADOR ACTIVITIES

Creating Our Own Community Project

This activity will take several meetings and is designed for kids to learn how to take action on an issue about which they are passionate and/or feel strongly they can make a positive impact.

HOW TO

1. Have participants create a list of issues around which they are passionate/feel they can make a positive difference.
2. From the list, they should select one issue to research.
3. Identify who can speak to them about the issue and guide them in designing a project. How will they contact that person/people/organization? What will they ask of them? Make sure participants are engaging the community to be helped and listening to what their concerns/ideas/needs are.
4. Have participants develop an awareness campaign around their issue.
5. Build and carry out a project to contribute to the cause in a positive way.
